

ANNUAL FLAG SERVICE IS PLANNED BY ELKS

Impressive Ceremony to Be Held by Local Lodge on Thursday, June 14.

TRIBUTE to Old Glory will be impressively paid by Glendale Elks the night of Flag Day, June 14, when the annual flag ceremonial of the lodge will be observed at an open meeting at the clubhouse on East Colorado street. The annual memorial service of the lodge is always held on the first Sunday in December, so the flag day service is the lodge's patriotic observance nearest to the national Memorial day.

Tentative plans for the service this year are for William Anderson, orator of the Santa Monica Elks' lodge, to be the honored speaker. Preceding the meeting the local band will give a half hour concert on the porch of the clubhouse. In addition to Mr. Anderson's address there will be the ritualistic flag service conducted by the lodge officers and music by the orchestra. The public is invited to join with the Elks in the service.

Flag decorations will be used and each Elks will wear a flag boutonniere in the lapel of his coat.

At the meeting of the lodge Monday night of this week there were nine men initiated, seven for the local lodge, one for the lodge in Athens, Ohio, and one for the lodge in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Those received into the Glendale lodge were John M. Collins, Dr. David A. Baker, Dr. James A. Beyer, Judge Sidney N. Reeve, Harry C. Soulsbury, Roger W. Jessup of Glendale and Max B. Wilson of San Fernando.

For the eastern lodges, George B. Morrison for the Ohio lodge, and Abraham Abrahams for the New York lodge.

A surprise of the meeting was the unexpected visit of the officers from the Santa Monica lodge.

Announcement was made of the regular meeting next Monday night and of the athletic benefit for the band Thursday night, June 7.

Entertainment after the meeting was furnished by a troupe of seventeen colored minstrels from Pasadena.

DOYLE PREDICTS WORLD TRAGEDY

Catastrophe to Make World War Insignificant by Comparison

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—The world is speeding toward a catastrophe that may equal the fabled disappearance of the continent Atlantis, Sir A. Conan Doyle, noted author and exponent of spiritualism, declared here in an interview today.

The prediction, he declared, was based upon messages he has received from spirits "who have gone beyond" and the inference was that one of the warning signs was the late Lord Northcliffe, famous British publisher.

Doyle declared the catastrophe he predicted might come within five years and would not be "man-made," as was the world war, and that the great war would pale into insignificance in comparison with the tragedy he predicts for the human race.

The great war, however, he said, was a forerunner of the predicted cataclysm.

"The fight is on between spiritualism and materialism," said Sir Conan. "By spiritualism I mean ethereal things—the search by men for heavenly peace and contentment as opposed to the rejection of religion in favor of Mammon."

Details Lacking
"I do not know the exact nature of this great disturbance. It may take the form of an earthquake or the waters of the ocean may rise and destroy all in their path."

"It will be a vengeance taken by supernatural forces for the rejection of religion."

A recent message to the American people came, he said, from a noted British publisher who recently passed on, which said: "Don't be so busy. You are doing the things that are not worth while."

MINISTER SUICIDE
WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Rev. James McBride Sterrett, an aged and widely known Episcopal clergyman, committed suicide here today by shooting himself in the head at his home in Chevy Chase.

Four Seasons In Tangle, Puzzling Weather Sharps

CHICAGO, May 31.—The four seasons have stumbled over their own feet and are all tangled up like recruits doing "right by squads" for the first time, the United States weather bureau said today, in explaining why the Great Lakes region would continue for "some time yet" to feel the sting of cold winds.

Sergeant "Solar System," too, has lost his head, and is adding to the confusion, the bureau indicated. Besides the lack of sun in the lakes of much ice is chilling winds and waters and distributing the Arctic pleasantness.

"Beginning last December," said Henry J. Cox, government forecaster for the lakes area, "Dr. C. G. Abbott, of the Smithsonian institute, made observations tending to show that the sun is radiating less heat. We began to feel the dimming radiation in February."

"It would certainly appear that something peculiar is going on in the solar system."

The sun's spots are all mixed up on their calendar, he explained, and the North Central states shiver while these freckles try to rearrange their schedule.

BOY SCOUTS FIELD DAY PLANNED

Big Athletic Contest to Take Place at Burbank on Saturday Afternoon

Field day for the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo District Council is scheduled to be held Saturday afternoon, June 2, on the grounds of the John Muir school, Burbank. The time is set for 1:30 o'clock. It is understood there will be seats for all. Parents and children are especially invited.

The following nine major events will be run off in the order named: attendance, inspection, friction fire lighting, international and semaphore code signaling, wall scaling, equipment race, water boiling contest and first aid race, announces James F. McBryde, chairman of the committee on publicity.

Eagle and Jamboree Scout Walter Wescott, of Los Angeles, will be the official technical judge. Several other judges will be on hand.

First Real Meet
Mr. McBryde states that the contests on Saturday afternoon will be the first real field meet to be staged by the Verdugo Hills District Council of Boy Scouts, for inter events having been more or less in the nature of practice matches. The results of this meet will be the acid test of which of the troops of the council actually excel in Scout work, it is stated.

Participating, some keen sporting competition is forecasted.

San Francisco May Get Republican Meet

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Passing through here today on his return from a conference with President Harding, William H. Crocker, Republican national committeeman, declared, during a brief interview with newspapermen, that he feels confident San Francisco will secure the Republican national convention, Crocker said.

"While I am not privileged to quote the president, I may say that I feel very confident that San Francisco will secure the Republican national convention."

"Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo are the only actual contenders for the convention and the last two cities virtually eliminated. Cleveland, being in the home state of the president, would not be the proper place for holding the party convention, and Buffalo, from all that I have been able to learn, will be unable to raise the necessary money to secure the convention."

"The fight rests between Chicago and San Francisco, and my conversation with national committeemen in the East gives me great confidence that the convention will be brought to San Francisco."

Germans Concentrate Force on Ruhr Border

PARIS, May 31.—Heavy concentrations of Reichswehr, supported by cavalry and artillery, are reported by the French military intelligence department to be arriving upon the Ruhr border in the region of Meunster, according to the Journal today.

The troops were said to have large supplies of barbed wire for trench entanglements.

PROTECTION FOR PUBLIC AT GAMES, PROMISE

Concessions Not Giving Fair Play Will Be Closed, Police Warning

Games of chance at Glendale's Industrial Exposition which do not give the public fair play are being closed by Chief of Police John D. Fraser. Already three concessionaires, operating wheels and other devices, have fallen under the watchful eye of plain clothes operatives.

On Tuesday night the rug man, as he was known among the exhibitors, got $70 from a Glendale man without awarding any prize. When this was reported Chief Fraser ordered him out forthwith. During the crush of Memorial day crowds Silverland and two other stands to a lesser extent, used "shillabars" in the crowd who won the capital prizes, in most instances, and returned them by the rear of the tent it was alleged.

As a result of this unfair work a conference was called this morning by city officials. Chief Fraser presided. Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilmen S. A. Davis, W. A. Horn and Asa Hall, City Manager W. H. Reeves, H. S. McCormick and L. H. Wilson, representing the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Frank Pilling of the Merchants association, H. L. Leavitt, director general of the exposition, and Col. James W. Everington, representing the local parties to the exposition, were present.

To Protect Public
It was decided that all games hereafter must give 10 cents in value with every chance on any prize; they must not use "shillabars," or devious; the concessionaires must come clean with the public. Chief Fraser feels confident the exposition is conducted all right, but several have been taken advantage of the officers.

For instance, they watched the police detectives, and it was necessary for the chief to send in a new crew of plain clothes men last night to protect the public. Any infractions of the rigid rules announced today will bring a request that the games be closed, it is stated.

BIG INTEREST IN CENTRAL AVENUE

Property Owners Meet for Discussion Over Plans for Improvements

The meeting of the Central Avenue Improvement association, held Tuesday night, May 29, in the offices of the Charles B. Guthrie company, 110 West Broadway, produced a crowd so great that it overflowed onto the sidewalk outside, showing conclusively the keen interest of property owners in the proposed developments along central avenue, in the opinion of Mr. Guthrie.

The report of the lighting committee, recommending unit iron standards instead of cement standards, was adopted.

A committee with Nathan Rigdon, chairman, was appointed to consider the matters of widening and lighting, for the north end of the avenue. A committee with E. J. Bennett as chairman was appointed to call a meeting of property owners south of Broadway, relative to paving the avenue.

Great Undertaking
The delegation from the north end expressed itself as opposed to opening and widening, but in favor of other improvements.

It was brought out that twenty petitions are working.

"With 200 feet of frontage involved the development inaugurated by the Central Avenue Improvement association may be considered the largest ever undertaken in this city," states Mr. Guthrie, who announces that the next meeting of the association will be subject to call.

Art Association to Hold Meet Sunday

There will be a public meeting at the Glendale Art association Sunday, June 3, from 4 till 5 o'clock, at the Glendale Public Library, announces Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the association.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. Kathryn Leighton, of Los Angeles, former vice-president of the Southern California Art club. Mrs. Leighton will talk on "The Difference Between the Old and the New School."

Mrs. Ballagh announces that the exhibit of children's work now hung in the juvenile room of the library will remain for another week. This exhibit, she states, has been supplemented by a private collection of Glendale paintings, owned by Dr. William T. Nichols.

Harding, Ford, Underwood Lead For Candidates

LONDON, May 31.—Henry August Allen, former Republican governor of Kansas, told International News Service that he believed President Harding would be a candidate for re-election. Former Governor Allen denied that he intends to seek the nomination.

The Democratic presidential nomination, in the opinion of the former Kansas executive, lies between Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, and Oscar W. Underwood, United States senator from Alabama.

"I believe that the leaders of the Democratic party are for Senator Underwood, but I am skeptical of their ability to control the national convention," said Allen.

Allen advocated entrance of the United States into the international court. He said he thought the people wanted a limited degree of participation in European affairs.

KITCHIN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Democratic Leader During War Congress Succumbs To Chronic Ailment

WILSON, N. C., May 31.—Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader in congress, during the war period, died at a hospital here this morning after a long illness.

Representative Kitchin's death had been expected several days. He had been ill almost continually for the last three years with a chronic stomach and kidney ailment.

Representative Kitchin was still the titular leader of his party in the lower branch of congress, despite the fact he never occupied his seat during the last session. So highly esteemed was he by the Democrats of congress, that they refrained from selecting a successor.

Kitchin was one of the members of the lower house who voted against the declaration of war with Germany. He cast his negative vote with tears streaming down his face on that memorable night of the 6th of April, 1917, and a friend led him sobbing from the floor.

Universal Regret
WASHINGTON, May 31.—The death of Representative Claude Kitchin caused universal regret in Washington today. His death will necessitate the selection of a new Democratic leader for the house of the Sixty-eighth congress.

During his two years' illness, Democratic leadership duties have been carried on by Representative Garrett of Tennessee and Representative John Garner of Texas.

FLAMES MENACE EXPOSITION TENT

Lion Farm in Path of Fire; Quick Action Prevents Material Damage

Fire starting in weeds near Doran street and Brand boulevard yesterday afternoon for a time threatened to destroy Glendale's Industrial Exposition.

As the flames crept up to the sidewalks of the tent in which Gay's lion farm, with its scores of kingly beasts, pandemonium reigned. Mrs. Gay was terror stricken at the thought of the impending catastrophe.

Chuck Reisner, film director, who happened to be a visitor at the show, was among others who quickly held up the sidewalks of the fire, doing a dance in the burning weeds. About thirty others did likewise.

Two members of the Glendale fire department rushed the chemical hose from the truck, which is stationed at the exposition, and extinguished the blaze before any material damage was done.

British Prepare to Evacuate Dardanelles

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 31.—Turkish newspapers stated today that the British have begun to prepare for evacuation of the Dardanelles.

British naval officials at Malta said Monday the British were prepared to evacuate Turkey within a month after the near east peace treaty is signed. It is assumed that the British will give up Chanak, the powerful fortress they created at the narrows of the Dardanelles.

TIGER WOMAN FORCED TO FLEE, IS CLAIM

Clara Phillips Promises to Bare Influences That Compelled Escape

By B. V. STURDEVANT
FOR International News Service
ON BOARD THE SUNSET LIMITED EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO FROM NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—Declaring that her sensational escape from the Los Angeles county jail on December 2, last, was not done of her own accord, Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," now speeding westward to face life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary, today told International News Service that her plea for a new trial will be built around this startling statement.

The escaped and re-captured "tiger woman" said that her long flight was made because of circumstances over which she had no control and not necessarily because of her desire for freedom. Mrs. Phillips refused to divulge anything further than this. She said that her attorneys will meet the train in Los Angeles and plans will be placed under way then to reveal the entire story.

"And if there is such a thing as justice," she added, "I will be a free woman."

Fails to Show Up
Armour Phillips, her husband, left Houston last night to board the train at Beaumont, but failed to make his appearance. Love telegrams of the most endearing kind have been exchanged between the two since her arrival in the United States and he promised to meet her at some point before she reached her grim prison cell.

With a scornful look and flashing eyes, she declared that she detested Carson and had never been attached to him in any manner.

"What if I did flee for freedom after he made my escape possible? That, too, will be cleared up when I make that promised revelation. Although he passed me as his wife wherever we went, I was always true to Armour."

When told that the world was asking in a rather censoring way where she received the money to finance her long flight, the "woman killer" replied that very little was spent and that was her savings and what Carson obtained by pawing her jewelry. She stoutly denied that a "ring" financed the trip and stated that she was (Continued on Page 3)

Big Death Roll IN THEATRE FIRE

Russian Opera House Scene Of Panic as Flames Sweep Building

LONDON, May 31.—Many persons were killed during a panic which followed an outbreak of fire in an opera house at Petrograd last night, according to a Central News dispatch from Helmsingfors this afternoon. The building was destroyed.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is reported that the dress worn by one of the women performers caught fire, the flames quickly spreading to the scenery. The safety curtain of asbestos was quickly lowered, but panic had already seized the audience. Men and women rose and rushed for the doors. The aisles were quickly jammed and many were thrown and trampled.

Meantime the flames spread rapidly through the structure, adding to the terror, and burning to death many who had been hopelessly hurt.

All members are urged to be present as important business is to be transacted.

Card Club Meets

Mrs. E. W. Cizek, of 711 East Elk street, was hostess on Monday at luncheon to the members of the Monday Afternoon Five Hundred club.

The rooms were decorated with a profusion of roses and spring flowers. The luncheon table was artistically decorated with roses, while place cards and other table appointments were carried out in the rose design.

Following luncheon, Five Hundred was played with Mrs. Al Bartley winning high score and Mrs. J. B. LaRock consolation prize.

Those present were Mesdames, Leroy Bradley, S. W. Waller, Emil Johnson, Mary Griggs, G. M. Johnson, J. B. LaRock, E. S. Dadds, and as special guest, Mrs. Al Bartley, and the hostess, Mrs. E. W. Cizek.

Tell Betrothal

Miss Hilda May of 505 Porter street, and Howard Richter of 321 East Ethel street, surprised their many friends yesterday, when they announced their engagement at a picnic in Bouquet Canyon. The exact date for the wedding has not as yet been made known, but it will occur sometime late in the summer.

Those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doeblich, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Siebert and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Evans and son, Frank, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mordorf, Mr. and Mrs. George Hyne, Stanley Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartman, Mrs. Minnie Wisman, Miss Hilda May and Howard Richter.

Wed In Glendale

The marriage of Miss Edith Lucille Chittenden of 320 West Lexington Drive, to Harvey M. Duval of Los Angeles, took place last night at 8 o'clock in the wedding room of the Central Christian church, Rev. Clifford A. Cole officiating. A double ring ceremony was used in the presence of Floyd Mercer and William F. Hedges. The couple was unattended. Mr. Duval is a title man with the Title Trust and Insurance company of Los Angeles and the bride is a well known young woman who has lived in Glendale for some time. Their home will be made in Glendale temporarily.

Section Hostess

Mrs. Walter Jones was hostess on Monday to the members of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at the clubhouse.

During the afternoon, plans were completed for the party on June 6 which the members are giving at the clubhouse in honor of Mrs. H. W. Ralston, who has been so generous with her services during the past year.

The honors for the quotation contest were awarded to Mrs. H. W. Ralston and Mrs. T. Hudson.

Special guests of the day were Mesdames Homer Lockwood, B. O. Holbrook, T. J. Edwards and L. I. Goldblatt. They are all coming into the section next year.

Birthday Dinner

An informal dinner party last night at the H. R. Boyer home at 232 North Orange street celebrated the birthday anniversary of Dr. Boyer.

Mrs. Boyer arranged the affair and in keeping with the patriotic spirit of the day she decorated her dinner table in red, white and blue.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockwood and Ed Boyer of Berkeley.

Meet Tomorrow

Friends of the non-section members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are greeting them at the Sierra Club beverage booth at the Industrial Exposition, where the club women are selling wares and receiving a percentage on each sale.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery announces a non-sectarian meeting for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the clubhouse.

Plans will be made for the College Club luncheon June 9.

W. C. T. U. Meets

Mrs. S. A. Davis of 333 North Louise street, will be hostess Friday, June 1, to the members of the Glendale W. C. T. U. at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This will be the regular business meeting. The subject of the afternoon will be State Convention Cleanings by the delegates.

Ruhr Settlement Is Near
'Too Much' In Germany
Do Something Different
Don't Let Habit Rule

By Gil A. Cowan

SETTLEMENT of the Ruhr problem, as predicted in the news of the day, offers encouragement to both France and Germany. And, as they are the two principal parties affected, the rest of the world may look on with bated breath, hoping that this compromise move succeeds.

Ruin of the industries in the great German valley were sure. France could not collect the coal and coke that were due, because the Germans outgeneraled them. And France had to have that coal to continue operations in home factories.

So long as the conqueror sat possessed of her richest parts, the German nation would not budge. That is, she made no effort to right herself in the eyes of the world, and the hiatus was becoming most unbearable, not to say expensive.

France and Belgium are not to be criticized for their occupation of Germany's industrial center. It is too bad they did not wring them dry of all the wealth the new German aristocracy has built up. But that was impossible without great bloodshed.

If terms can be made in the Ruhr, it will be good for all parties alike. And if France cannot collect its war debts, perhaps the whole world will give the Heine some more of the medicine that is good for old man Mars.

Germany, the efficient nation, also is the most disgusting country in the world. It complains of poverty when its poverty is only that problem of worthless paper money, printed like cigar coupons.

And then they have their strikes. More than 700,000 men quit work in the Ruhr alone. Their hungry mouths must be fed by the workers of Germany. That is only a problem of forcing them back to work.

Too much money, too much communism, too much brains, are three important factors in Germany's troubles today.

Speaking of habit, the San Francisco Journal says editorially: "Habit can be either a curse or a blessing. It can drive us to greater things or cause us to shrink and remain in a rut. We frequently need to take stock of ourselves to see what habit is doing to us."

"Has habit such a grip on you that you spend your Sunday mornings in bed? Do you, more or less regularly, lie abed late, get up late, eat a late breakfast, waste a beautiful afternoon in a stuffy or poorly heated apartment, accomplish nothing, and retire late? Is this your Sunday habit?"

"If so, why not right about face and see what the opposite program will do for you?"

"Rise at a reasonable hour, finish your breakfast by 8 or 8:30 o'clock, then tie yourself to the park, the beach, the links, to church, to a concert or any wholesome place of amusement for a change. Mark you, you will, for the moment at least, be getting out of a rut."

"If you are a business man or woman and not a happy possessor of an automobile, brisk walk in God's outdoors will cause your thoughts to race around more actively. Perhaps you will observe, as you never have before, the trees, the birds, the

BURBANK PLUNGE BEING PLANNED

'Old Swimmin' Hole' to Be Feature Attraction If Project Carried Out

It appears that Burbank is to have an "old swimmin' hole," where boys and, perhaps, their elders, may indulge their aquatic proclivities. F. Curt Miller, city engineer, is back of the project, which is planned to locate at the substation on Magnolia avenue.

Mr. Miller feels that the location is ideal in every respect, there being plenty of shade trees about the place, together with an old transformer shed that can, with little expense, be converted into a dressing room for the boys.

Aid Society Meets
The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet tonight, May 31, at the home of Mrs. Buffington, on South Magnolia avenue. A good program has been prepared and all members are urged to attend. Visitors also will be welcome.

EAGLE ROCK

CLEAN UP WEEK
FOR EAGLE ROCK

Mass Meeting Takes Place
Tonight to Make Plans
For Campaign

A big mass meeting at Central school, tonight at 8 o'clock, starts "Clean-Up Week" in the Eagle Rock section.

The meeting is under the auspices of the Los Angeles fire department, who plan a campaign of cooperation in order to remove from vacant property, back yards, old closets, attics and other places trash of all descriptions, thus greatly reducing the fire hazard.

"At this meeting," states Lieutenant Welty, in charge of the Eagle Rock department, "a definite campaign will be outlined and the people shown that we stand back of them in this effort to reduce the menace of fire from our midst."

"Particularly, all dry grasses on vacant property will be burned under the supervision of the fire department, during Clean-Up week."

Mrs. Fraser Dead
Mrs. Anna Taylor Fraser, of 811 West Colorado boulevard, died Monday night, May 28, 1923, at the above address, at the age of 53 years, after a lingering illness.

The deceased was born March 15, 1870, at Millersport, Ohio. In 1893 she was married to Simon Fraser, who died in 1920.

Mrs. Fraser had lived for the past thirty-five years in Los Angeles. For twenty-one years she had been active secretary and treasurer of the Taylor Milling Company, Los Angeles, of which her brother, J. Hartley Taylor, with whom she made her home, was president.

In addition to her brother, Mrs. Fraser is survived by two sisters and two children. The sisters are Mrs. Margaret Taylor Adams, of Jacumba, and Mrs. Laura Garfield, of Los Angeles, while the children are John Hartley Fraser and Kathryn M. Fraser, of the Eagle Rock address.

Mrs. Fraser had been ill for eighteen months, being confined to her bed for the past ten weeks. Though in pain almost the entire time, she bore up cheerfully and bravely till the end and it was largely her will power and remarkable vitality that allowed her to hold out so well against hopeless odds.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Thursday, May 31, from the Cypress Park Christian church, Los Angeles.

Local Notes
Henry Dolton, a junior at the Oregon Agricultural College, won the silver loving-cup awarded to the pentathlon winner at the annual relays. As Dolton is an Eagle Rock boy, his many friends will be glad to know of this honor.

The Presbyterian church plans to conduct a summer school, which will be in charge of Mrs. Leech. Beginners, primary, junior boys, junior girls and intermediate classes will be conducted, under competent teachers.

"There is no valley fairer than Eagle Rock valley," says Mrs. C. W. Young, "and there is no flower lovelier than the dahlia."

Winner in Tax Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—A decision denying the territorial government of Alaska the right to collect occupational and income taxes from the Annette Island Packing Company of Alaska on the ground that the company was established on the island to help the Indians there, was handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The case had been dismissed in the United States District Court in Alaska and the territorial government had appealed.

Residence Saved by Quick
Work of Fire Chief at La Crescenta

Promptness on the part of Mr. Young, fire chief, in responding to an alarm, saved the back part of a dwelling owned by Mark Collins, in his Montrose addition. The building was badly scorched, but no damage other than this resulted. The house was vacant, and workmen had quit at noon, doing repairs on the place. Neighbors turned in the alarm.

William Singleton, of Honolulu avenue, is suffering with a wound in his foot caused by running a nail into it. The Ladies' club cleared a little more than $14 at the calico dance, given on Saturday last.

The house on the corner of Los Angeles and Hermosa avenue has been rented through the Collins & Tillinghast realty office.

Claire Stillwell, of Glendale, was a business visitor yesterday at the Barrow Card office.

George Smith, realty man, of Honolulu avenue, has established an old street car on his property, and will dispense cold drinks there. The car is painted a gorgeous blue to attract attention.

Much building is being done all through the valley in Honolulu. Acres, Cline & Romo tract, Kemper's tract, and Collins addition. The Woolley grocery store, on East Honolulu avenue, has a new orange-colored sign, which has been placed on the roof in such a position that it can be seen from east and west.

Joe Hagerty, the conductor on the local street car, is expecting to return to work this week.

Miss Ethelyn Smith, daughter of Dr. Smith, of Los Angeles avenue, will conduct classes in dramatic art this summer. It is her intention to have one class for the intermediate grades and another for pupils of high school age. Miss Smith teaches dramatic art in the Hollywood High school, and is well known here.

FERBER FASHION
EXHIBIT PLEASES

Display Proves One of Big Hits at Exposition; to Give Program Friday

Charming femininity, beautifully gowned by the Ferber store at 108 South Brand boulevard, delighted the Exposition crowd last night and inspired such praise that the Ferber store has been asked to furnish the big entertainment feature for Friday night.

Just what the program will be tomorrow night has not been formally announced, but a brilliant fashion display is assured and another big surprise event that will be announced tomorrow through the columns of the Glendale Evening News.

The gown revue last night was one of the most artistic yet staged at the industrial show and Mrs. Edith Farmer, Mrs. Florence Hillman and Miss Ruth Stokes of the Ferber staff are deserving of many compliments for their choice of gowns, color combinations and dressing of the pretty models.

Pleasing Showing
There were gowns for every kind of summer wear. Chic sport outfits, organically afternoon frocks, silk gowns for smart wraps, and besides these some cunning creations for the kiddies.

Those of special note were a beautiful bridal outfit; a King Tut dress of Egyptian figured gray silk crepe; a cunning frock fashioned from shell pink moire silk ribbon; a gay corset sleeveless sport jacket worn with a gray silk crepe skirt; two charming organically dresses, one in pink and the other in lavender; kidies' organically and taffeta dresses and many others that combined in a most pleasing showing.

Judge Smiles While
Dispensing Justice

Justice was administered with a broad smile today by Judge Harry W. Chase and all because the court holiday yesterday was featured for the Chase family by the arrival of a seven-pound daughter at the Glendale Research hospital.

The new Miss Chase, who is to be called Louella, arrived quite early in the morning of Wednesday, May 30, 1923. She is the grand daughter of Mrs. W. F. Wood of 1470 East Wilson avenue, and the second daughter in the Chase family.

"I don't know what we would have done as Carson could never have provided a cent. He was continually drunk and used all he could scrape together for liquor. It is better that I returned—that is if they give me a new trial. It would have cost the honor of both my sister and myself had we remained in Honduras."

Every town and city that the train passed through furnished a crowd of curious people, all anxious to get a glance at Clara Phillips. Few national celebrities received a more hearty welcome than did the "tiger woman" in Houston.

When the train came to a stop, hundreds of persons surrounded the car with cries of "Hello Clara, we're for you. Keep a stiff upper lip, Clara, Texas is back of you."

Her husband's mother and a brother then came rushing through the crowd to talk with Clara, closely guarded to prevent a suspected break for liberty. After loud cries and demands from the mob, the mother-in-law and brother were permitted to enter the compartment and exchange embraces with the murderers.

At San Antonio the train was met by A. M. Gray, who adopted Mrs. Etta Mae Jackson as his daughter seven years ago when the sisters were playing in musical comedy in that city. He has also acted as a foster father to Mrs. Phillips since that time. Only Mrs. Jackson was permitted to see him.

M. E. Team Wins in Game With Carriers

The practice game in the Twilight baseball league, played between the First M. E. sluggers and the Mail Carriers on Tuesday night, resulted in the followers of John Wesley walloping the Carriers by 28 to 16. Tonight the Glendale Firemen will meet the Jesse E. Smith team at the high school grounds, and tomorrow night the Standard Oil players will meet the employees of the city, substituting for the American Legion team, whose members have to attend the regular meeting of the Legion Post.

Captains of the various teams entered in the Twilight league will meet at the high school grounds on Monday night to draw up the schedule that is to be played in the contest for the trophy that has been hung up for the winner, and it is desired that a full attendance of those interested be on hand.

MANY MESSAGES BEAR GREETINGS

Huge Wedding Cake Given
By Davis Bread Co. to Miss Butler

It has been many a day since there has been a wedding of such wide interest among Glendaleans as that of Miss Butler and Roy Brasfield Tuesday night at the Pendroy Booth at the Industrial Exposition.

Upon the announcement of the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Pendroy and Miss Butler were the recipients of messages from a large group of local and outside merchants, some of whom had booths at the exposition, and some who didn't.

All were eager to assist the Pendroys and to help in making Miss Butler's wedding a brilliant event.

One of the big features of the wedding affair was the wedding cake, given by the Davis Standard Bread company of Los Angeles, through the courtesy of the advertising manager, F. T. Hagelberg. Mr. Hagelberg took enthusiastic and active interest in the wedding plans, and provided a beautifully decorated forty-pound wedding cake in addition to the bride's cake.

Another courtesy extended the young couple was from George T. Smith, who furnished a Willys-Knight car, one of the cars conveying the bridal party to and from the exposition.

FRED B. WALTON IS STORE OWNER

Dewey's Men's Furnishings
Business Is Taken Over;
Price Reductions

Dewey's Men's • Furnishings store, 148 South Brand boulevard, has been bought by Fred B. Walton, who announces that he will close out, at greatly reduced prices, the present stocks of merchandise and will replace with standard and advertised lines, such as carried by the better stores.

Particularly, Mr. Walton states that he will run strong on hats. New and up-to-date brass show cases for hats will be installed at once, running the entire depth of the store.

Other improvements to the premises are announced, among them the laying of hardwood floors in the show windows, Mr. Walton's idea being that, when he has completed renovation, this store will be one of the finest and most attractive men's shops anywhere about.

Fred B. Walton has been the manager of a leading Glendale store for the past two years, and has made many acquaintances in the men's furnishings trade. It is his knowledge of the business and his confidence in Glendale as a city in which to establish such a store, that has decided Mr. Walton to purchase Dewey's Men's Furnishings store at the above address.

Car Load of Apricots on
Way to Liverpool; Plan
For Many Picnics

Mr. Adams of the Ripe Olive Cannery shipped a car load of canned apricots to Liverpool, England on Tuesday of this week. This is about 1200 cases and each car was labeled "Sunland."

Big shipments of olives are going east daily to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Providence and other points from the cannery here. The cannery is running full capacity and expect to finish the olives by the first of July.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross, Little Tujunga, was bitten by a rattlesnake Saturday and died shortly afterward. Mr. Ross is an employee of the olive cannery and was at San Pedro with a truck load of apricots when the child was attacked by the snake.

Mrs. Wellington of the Lazy Lonesome tract entertained recently in honor of Miss Jennie Glispin of Worcester, Mass., who has spent the winter with her cousins, the Misses Noonan of Sunland. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Wellington's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Adams. Miss Glispin is leaving soon for Massachusetts and this was in the nature of a farewell party for her.

The guests present were Misses May and Margaret Noonan of Sunland; Mrs. Smith of Beaumont, Mrs. Lydia Roseau of Alhambra, the Misses Mayme and Margaret La Beau of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews of Sunland, Charles La Beau and Mr. Ranson of Los Angeles, and Miss Jennie McQuade of Santa Monica. Refreshments were served.

Plan for Picnics

Monte Vista park is a favorite picnic grounds, as the number of these outings held there will testify. On Sunday, May 27, the Socialist Working Men's Singing Society, with headquarters at 327 1/2 South Broadway, Los Angeles, held their annual picnic here. There were about seventy-five singers and approximately 250 attended the outing.

On Saturday, June 2, the Presbyterian church and Sunday school of Pasadena expects to hold a picnic here. This is their annual outing and in the neighborhood of 600 are expected to attend.

On June 9 the Masonic lodge of Glendale expect to have a picnic here. There are private family outings almost every day.

The Monte Vista Valley Improvement Association met Friday night and discussed routine matters. After adjournment the members were entertained with a radio concert on the receiving set in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer on Walnut drive.

There will be a mass meeting at the school house on Saturday, June 2, at which important matters will be brought up for discussion. It is desired that all who can should attend this meeting.

TUJUNGA

FIRE THREATENS TUJUNGA CANYON

Flames Burn Over Twenty Acres Before Put Out;
Warning by Wardens

Big Tujunga Canyon was threatened Sunday night by a fire that burned off twenty acres before it was subdued by men who were rushed to the scene by Leo Lang, fire warden. The blaze started about 9 o'clock at night near the mouth of the canyon in the dry brush. No length was discovered as to the origin by the warden of any of the thirty men who rushed out to fight it.

The wardens are experiencing some difficulty in getting men to respond when they call for fire fighters and will from this time on prosecute any man who is not physically unable who avoids this duty by any subterfuge. The law provides a heavy penalty for this offense and the wardens intend to see that it is enforced.

Express Appreciation
The Tujunga Valley Realty board is in receipt of a letter from the Glendale Realty Board, expressing their thanks and appreciation for the entertainment tendered them last week. It reads as follows: "Tujunga Valley Realty Board, Tujunga, California.

"Gentlemen: — By motion passed at the regular meeting of the Glendale Realty board, held May 23, I have been authorized to extend to your board the thanks of the members of the Glendale Realty board for, and in appreciation of, the most enjoyable entertainment offered them last Monday, May 21.

"The members of the Glendale Realty board, their wives and friends who attended the meeting were delighted with the program and charmed by the spirit of gracious hospitality which prevailed.

"The bond of friendship already existing between these two boards has been strengthened and it is the sincere wish of the Glendale Board that we may have more of these get-together meetings and that the feeling of

TEA IS GIVEN FOR CLUB MEMBERS

Mrs. Claude Putnam Hostess to Thirty Guests at Whispering Pines

Mrs. Claude Putnam was hostess Tuesday afternoon to a group of the members of the Males' and Young Matrons' section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, at her handsome home, "Whispering Pines," 424 North Glendale avenue, about thirty guests being present to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Putnam, who was assisted in dispensing tea by Mrs. Charles Meadows and Mrs. Charles Carroll.

The Putnam residence was tastefully decorated with a profusion of spring flowers, and the daintily-planned refreshments were served to the guests on the spacious pergola that is such an attractive feature of "Whispering Pines."

During the afternoon several of the pupils of the Woods School of Dancing and Dramatic Art presented a program of dances, which the guests had been lavished on their training by Mrs. Nanno Woods, their teacher. The numbers presented were "Little Bo-Peep" by Constance Steelman; "Gown Dance" by Joseph Taylor; "Jingle Bells" by Ruth Bender; "The Bandbox" by Elizabeth Haviland; "Fairies Dance" by Saxon Berney and Evelyn Molz; and a musical reading, "Little Ah San," by Rosina Brown.

TURKEY TO KEEP ON WAR FOOTING

Will Maintain Troops Under Arms in Spite of Greek Treaty

By LOUISE BRYANT
For International News Service
CONSTANTINOPLE, May 31.—Despite the Turco-Greek agreement reached at Lausanne by which Turkey acquiesces additional territory in Europe, on the western bank of the Maritza river, the Ankara government will maintain its present army under arms, it was learned.

Turkish troops will be maintained in their present strategic positions until a Near East peace treaty is signed. Then it is expected the allies will evacuate Turkey in two weeks, after which the Kemalists will re-occupy Constantinople and Thrace as far as the Maritza river.

Turkish officials say Greece is willing to sign a separate treaty with Turkey "in order to prevent English and French diplomacy from involving the two nations in future wars in the Balkans."

Great relief was manifested when news came from Lausanne that the reparations dispute had been settled.

Certain Turkish officials, however, expressed misgivings. They claim that Karagatch, which is included in the exchanged territory, contains only vegetable gardens and a railway station.

Thrace is quiet and no further troop movements are reported from the Maritza zone.

Los Angeles Attempts to Control Its Streets

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—If a new ordinance, drafted along the lines upon which the city council has ordered it prepared, is adopted by the municipal legislators, it will be illegal.

First—For street cars to operate over the streets of the city.

Second—For the gas company to maintain its gas mains in the streets of the city.

Third—For the electric and power concerns of the city to distribute electrical energy in lines over public streets.

Fourth—And for the vegetable vendor to make his daily house calls with his age-old familiar horse and wagon or more modern fireless truck.

This, briefly, is the opinion of Deputy City Attorney Perry Thomas, who has been assigned to carry on the city council's instructions that an ordinance be prepared which would prohibit the "conduct of business of any nature whatsoever upon the public streets of Los Angeles."

The ordinance originally was suggested by City Prosecutor McConnell to the police commission, but the measure at its inception was not meant, according to city hall statements, to cover the broad field which the deputy city attorney declares it will include.

PLANS SATISFACTORY

MEXICALI, Lower Cal., May 31.—Governor Jose Insua of the northern district of Lower California made it known that representatives of the Doheny and other large oil interests of the Pacific coast, who conferred with him here Saturday, had made "satisfactory overtures" for permits to drill for oil in Lower California, and that they had been referred to Mexico City. Another meeting of the oil men will be held here in about a week, it was announced.

American Legion Conducts Most Impressive Ceremony At Grand View Cemetery

SEVERAL thousand people gathered at Grand View cemetery yesterday morning, Memorial Day, where they witnessed the most impressive patriotic ceremony that has ever taken place in Glendale. The exercises were under the auspices of the Los Angeles Inter-Post Council of the American Legion and was for a dual purpose—to dedicate the newly acquired Legion plot at the cemetery, with lots for 11,000 Legionnaires, and to pay a final tribute to the twenty comrades already resting there, among them Paul Burris and Ray M. Clementson, the former a local boy and the latter an overseas soldier.

The beautiful and impressive services which had their pre-amble in a march to the cemetery, from the corner of Grand View avenue and Glenwood road, led by the Hollywood American Legion band, were opened with an invocation by Rev. W. E. Edmondson, former state chaplain of the American Legion.

The children of the Central avenue school rendered at this point the choral number, "Cover Them Over With Beautiful Flowers."

Dwight W. Stephenson then spoke, as an official representative of the Glendale Post of the American Legion, telling the large assemblage that here at the beautiful Grand View, in the shadow of the green Verdugo hills, the departed comrades might rest in peace.

"We are honored and feel proud you have chosen as the final resting-place of these brave men a site within the limits of Glendale," said Mr. Stephenson. "They have gone, but there is a bond that still remains, linking their lives with ours—and that bond is duty."

"It is our duty to see that those who have died and not died in vain, and who in giving up their lives have made the supreme sacrifice for ideals of American liberty that shall endure."

At the close of Mr. Stephenson's address the children of the John Muir school, Burbank, sang "A Rare Old Fair Land."

Commander Leonard Wilson, of the Inter-Post Council, master of ceremonies, then read the roll of departed comrades, after which the women's auxiliaries of the American Legion, Los Angeles and Glendale posts, spread flowers upon the graves of Paul Burris and Ray M. Clementson, as a symbol of the loving thoughts held for all departed comrades.

Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale, rendered a solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Permanent Monument
Commander Wilson then briefly outlined plans of the Legion for a permanent monument to be erected upon the site at Grand View cemetery, the funds to be supplied by school children of the city.

Governor James G. Scruggam of Nevada, the principal speaker, was introduced by Commander Wilson with a few words stressing his loyalty and service to America and to the Legion, pointing out that he is the first Legionnaire to be elected chief executive of a state.

Governor Scruggam prefaced his remarks with the statement:

Secretary Weeks for Draft of All in War

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—"If I had my say I would draft every man and woman in the United States within the proper age limits in times of war," Secretary of War John W. Weeks declared here in an address.

The statement was made after Secretary Weeks had referred to the selective draft policy on which the United States now depended for protection.

Review of more than 2000 officers and men at the Presidio was made after the luncheon by Secretary Weeks and the members of the congressional party.

The army's post activities were spectacular, with seven army planes from Crissley Field maneuvering over the reviewing stands.

Among the organizations represented were the regular army, the national guard, the coast defense, organized reserves, junior reserve officers' training corps.

Weeks, at the luncheon declared himself delighted with the attitude of San Francisco as expressed by a committee earlier in the day. The body declared that, while this district was anxious to secure additional fortifications, it would let the entire matter rest with the war department.

Alhambra Girl Wins Shakespearean Test

ALHAMBRA, May 31.—Victorious in a Shakespearean contest held last week in Boward auditorium, in which students from eleven Southern California high schools participated, Miss Dorothy Jo Welch, talented Alhambra high school pupil, won her right to appear in the Shakespeare festival to be held in the famous Greek Theatre, Berkeley. Miss Welch left for Berkeley Wednesday night in company with Miss Myrtle Goodyzoontz, head of the dramatic department of the local school, who attended the state convention of drama teachers at Berkeley last week.

LOCAL MEN IN HONOR SOCIETY

Big Meeting to Be Held In Legion Hall On Thursday Night

The American Legion hall on East Broadway will be the scene of a gala occasion this evening, when Legionnaires from every post in Los Angeles county will mobilize for a big meeting of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

Grand Chef de Gare, Herbert J. Simon, head of all Voltures in California, will be present, presided by Grand Correspondent Ben Shenberger.

Several "goofs," as the candidates are called, will be initiated. A few Glendale Legion men have already taken the work, at the monster promenade recently held at El Segundo in honor of MacDonald, while he was in the southwest, on his way home from a national meeting in Kansas City, where the big program of the organization for taking care of orphans of ex-service men was formulated. Clarence Cronkite, who also attended the Kansas City meeting and who will have charge of the orphans' program in California, will be in Glendale's Thursday night and explain the plan of the Veterans' Welfare committee of the 40's.

The initiatory work will be put on by Chef de Gare, A. W. Smith of Los Angeles County Voltures No. 47. He will bring his crack "wrecking crew" in charge of Dr. J. C. Couturier, and their carload of "props." A large body of the Los Angeles County voyageurs militaire, as the members are called, will also come to Glendale to the big celebration representing almost all the forty-three Legion Posts of this county.

Organized in 1920
La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux was organized in 1920 by a group of Legionnaires who felt that the formal meetings of the American Legion did not provide an outlet for the ex-soldier's tendencies of the ex-soldier, sailor and marine. At the Kansas City national convention the society had grown to be a success that it was officially designated a social auxiliary of the Legion. What the Shrine is to Masonry, the 40-8 Society is to the Legion.

The nationwide organization now has a membership of approximately 100,000 and has more than 500 Local Voltures in various sections of the country. It is also organized in Mexico, Canal Zone and the Hawaiian Islands. It takes its name from the French railway cars in which the American soldiers were transported during the war. The cars were marked "40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux" or forty men and eight horses. Only white male American Legion members in good standing, who have performed some distinguished service for the Legion, are eligible to become members of the 40-8.

Only white male American Legion members in good standing, who have performed some distinguished service for the Legion, are eligible to become members of the 40-8.

The national-wide organization now has a membership of approximately 100,000 and has more than 500 Local Voltures in various sections of the country. It is also organized in Mexico, Canal Zone and the Hawaiian Islands. It takes its name from the French railway cars in which the American soldiers were transported during the war. The cars were marked "40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux" or forty men and eight horses. VICTIM OF LION AT EXPOSITION

Charles Gay Visits Show to See How Wife Gets Along With Beasts

Those roaring lions at the Glendale Industrial Exposition met their master again today.

For two weeks he has been confined to his bed, one leg badly chewed by a lioness which is in the exhibit. Six lacerations are now healing.

Charles Gay came hobbling into the exposition to see how his good wife was making out with the wild beasts.

More than a score of the tawny beasts go lurking about the wire enclosure, intent on getting out if they can—although Mrs. Gay assures all attending the show that she has a "well-trained family."

Beyond doubt the lions are the prime human interest exhibit of the entire exposition. The visitor could help but wonder what would happen were they to escape. But Mrs. Gay says such shall not come to pass. She knows the kingly beasts by name and fondles them like dogs.

Genius Seen in Show
And as you go wondering and wandering on through the great two blocks of attractions an admiration for the genius which built up this show grows.

The band concerts, fashion displays, free "show" attractions and the interesting educational exhibits to be found there make one fully believe that "nothing under the sun" has been missed.

The memories of the late World War are stirred by an exhibit from "over there" in the north end of the big tent. Many former service men yesterday saw this attraction.

In fact, the holiday offered the big opportunity for everyone in Glendale to see the exposition. The admission is reduced to 10 cents during the afternoon, which should make the show popular for family parties.

In the evening tickets may be bought for $1 a book of ten, or single admissions at 25 cents.

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce advertising fund benefits from the paid admissions, it is stated.

HAMMER SLAYER MAY DODGE JAIL

Complication Over Appeal May Keep Mrs. Phillips From Penitentiary

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Legal complications concerning the status of her appeal from the verdict convicting her of the "hammer murder" of Alberta Meadows, which may frustrate plans of officials here to rush Clara Phillips on to San Quentin, where she is under sentence of from ten years to life, have arisen here.

The complication developed, despite previous reports that Mrs. Phillips' appeal is still before the district court of appeals. Negligence on the part of officials brought about this complication, it was stated. No motion to dismiss the appeal has ever been made. It was explained here that the district attorney's office believed the attorney-general's office had dismissed the motion and the attorney-general's office thought the matter had been taken care of by the district attorney's office.

It was explained by Deputy District Attorney Frank Stafford that Mrs. Phillips, despite all opposition, may be permitted to proceed with her appeal, which would mean that she would remain in jail until it is disposed of.

Mrs. Phillips' appeal was based on all the statutory grounds and was filed immediately after her conviction.

Gigantic Conspiracy To Smuggle Liquor

NORFOLK, Va., May 31.—With the under arrest at a hotel, federal prohibition agents are expecting to make more arrests in New York and other cities in connection with a gigantic international conspiracy to smuggle liquor into the United States. Norfolk at present is the center of interest, a part of a cargo of 75,000 cases of liquor which was aboard four rum runners having been smuggled through the coast guard.

Those under arrest are William L. Burwell, alias William E. Baker, self-styled "second in command of the Atlantic rum fleet," according to the authorities, his wife and Rex D. Sheldon, all of New York, who, according to the federal officers, have admitted their connection with the international organization behind the rum fleet that has been standing off the Virginia capes for a week.

State department officials have co-operated with treasury experts in the drafting of the new regulations, with an eye especially to the elimination of foreign involvement, and while officials declined today to forecast exactly what the new regulations will be, it was said that a great deal of foreign complaint will be automatically eliminated when the regulations appear.

President Sojourner

WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Harding, by virtue of being commander-in-chief of the army and navy, was made a member of the Soldiers' Club, an organization composed of Master Masons who are officers, either active or retired, of the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard and public health service.

Many Thousands At Forest Lawn Memorial Park To Honor Dead Of Three Wars

DECORATION DAY was fittingly observed by many thousands of people yesterday afternoon in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. They visited this "silent city" between sunrise and sunset. All day long they came and went—in automobiles and on foot, in street cars and on busses. War Mothers came to pour out their love once more beside the graves of the sons who gave all for their country. Comrades of the G. A. R. came with their grandchildren, Legionnaires came with their wives, an echo of war romance, and Spanish War veterans came with their sons, many of whom also have heard the call to arms.

Nearly every part passing beneath the entrance gate of Forest Lawn carried at least one floral wreath. Before mid-afternoon almost every grave in the cemetery had been lovingly decorated. Many of the mounds, where sleep patriots who are waiting for the reveille were covered with floral tributes by those who sought thus to pay their respects to citizenship.

The parade was one of the features of the afternoon. This was led by Col. J. D. Fraser, as grand marshal, and his aides, George L. Rollins, W. H. Reeves and R. C. Plume, representing the veterans of three wars.

As the Elks' band marched into Memorial park, it played Chopin's "Funeral March." Members wore their summer uniforms of white duck trousers, dark maroon coats and white caps. Ned Graham was the drum major.

Automobiles were provided for both the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. Owing to their thinning ranks, more than enough accommodations were represented in the line of march.

Loyalty is keynote
School children from the elementary grades met upon the Cerritos grounds, and, guided by teachers, marched into the cemetery. Each carried a small American flag, symbolic of the occasion.

Loyalty was the keynote of the afternoon program, which was notable for the perfection of its details. It is regarded as one of the finest ever held in Glendale.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was the recipient of many congratulations. His speech was one of the most perfect samples of oratory ever delivered in this vicinity.

"This day reminds us that we are all debtors," he remarked. "We sing 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee' and 'The Star Spangled Banner' and often forget to ask: 'Who paid the price in blood and tears and broken hearts?' Can a man be a true citizen, when he forgets these facts and says 'The world owes me a living'?"

"This day should remind us of loyalty. I don't like to hear a man say that he is a hundred per cent American. Give me a man who is loyal—he is the only kind of a citizen who has any business in this land of the free and the home of the brave. Let him either be loyal or change his place of residence."

All Honor to Flag
"This is the day on which we emphasize brotherhood. What a wonderful word! It is a tie that binds us together. It means that we recognize the fact that we are our brother's keeper. It means that we rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep. We clasp hands today in a common spirit of brotherhood. There is no east, no west, no north, no south."

"We are here to do honor to the flag. I wish it were in my power to choose a world's flag. This would be it."

"As long as the Bible is used as the foundation for our flag we need not have any fear about the flag of our liberty. I say reverently today: no Bible, no flag; no flag, no liberty."

The G. A. R. ritualistic service was participated in by Commander Thomas M. Barrett, Adjutant H. C. Clark and Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain.

Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was delivered by Arden Ginery, student at Glendale Union High school.

The American Legion was represented upon the program by Attorney Eugene J. Wix, who said: "On the thirtieth day of May, 1868, the first Memorial Day Services were held in this country. Since that day it has become an annual event and again today the entire nation pauses to pay its respects to the memory of our honored dead."

"What is the purpose of Memorial Day? Is it not something more than just paying our respects to those who have given their lives for their country? The highest tribute we can pay them is to heed their message and 'carry on' with the work that they were compelled to leave unfinished. Above all, this is a day for us to rededicate ourselves to the principles for which they gave their all."

Tribute of Respect
Spanish war veterans were represented by Capt. W. H. Reeves who said in part:

"It is my privilege here today to pay the annual tribute of respect and affection to the memory of those soldiers of the Spanish-American war who have made their last camp and pitched their tents for eternity on the other side of the dark river of death."

"A few of their mortal bodies rest peacefully here at our feet today. Others lie under sunny southern skies in the old military cemetery of Chicamauga. Many others repose in the great national cemetery at Arlington, Virginia. Still others are buried in Cuba where they fell amid the shock and storm of battle, a willing sacrifice to the immortal principle of human freedom."

While others lie at rest under the palms of the tropic islands of the Philippines within the continual sound of the booming surf, awaiting the resurrection reveille.

"May the memory of those noble dead inspire us to renewed efforts to safeguard our city, state and nation in every crisis. Let us, at every opportunity, instill the lessons of patriotic duty into the hearts and minds of the young of this land. Thus can we best reverence the memory of those who have so bravely made the supreme sacrifice for us."

Symbolic Grave
Special musical numbers included a solo by Madame Constance Balfour of Los Angeles entitled "The Story of Our Flag." Miss Alberta Davis and Miss Lorene Davis of Los Angeles, who are known as "Sammies' Sisters" played as melophone and flugelhorn duets, "May Angels Watch Over Thee" and "American Melody." As an encore they played "Abide With Me." Mrs. B. E. Bassford was the accompanist.

A symbolic grave upon a gentle slope to the east of the Little Church of the Flowers was decorated in an appropriate ceremony at the close of the program. This was heaped high with floral wreaths by representatives of different public officials and various patriotic organizations. A stand of colors was officially received from the Sons of the American Revolution.

The firing squad was composed of the following members of the national guard: R. Weetman, W. McManus, W. J. Strong, B. O. Howell, S. Coit, H. Rich, and H. P. C. Cook. Taps were played by Glenn Heminger of the police department while the bugle of Eddie Moniot furnished the echo.

A squadron of five airplanes earlier in the afternoon circled over Forest Lawn and bombarded the symbolic grave with flowers.

MUSICIANS' CLUB WILL BE FORMED

Faculty of Cavanah School Stages Concert at Orange St. Studio

Further association of Glendale musicians is being planned by the formation of a Glendale Musicians' club, tentative plans for which were discussed last night at the Cavanah studio at 130 North Orange street, where a company of fifty gathered for a talented program given by members of the faculty of the studio.

Opening the program was a group of vocal duets by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, who are always greeted by local audiences. They sang "O Moment That I Bless" (Dennee), "I Would That My Love" (Mendelssohn), and "At Parting" (Allison Moore).

Following these Mrs. Cavanah gave three contralto solos, all beautifully done. She gave "Deep River" (Fisher), "Invocation" (D'Hardelot) and "Sacrament" (McMurdock).

String Trio Pleases
Of special interest were the selections by the Glendale Stringed Trio, consisting of J. A. Myers, cello; Julius Krantz, violin; and Mrs. Gertrude Chapman, piano. They played "March Militaire" (Schubert), "Abendlied" (Schumann), and "Spanish Dance" (Moskowsky).

There was one dramatic number, a reading of Richard Harding Davis' "Deserter," by Carter Moore.

Mr. Cavanah was heartily applauded for his singing of "Lil' Moon" (Bartholomew, "Off in the Still Night" (Rhys-Forbert) and an aria from the French opera "Le Roi d'Ys" (Lalo).

One of the outstanding features of the program was the wonderful rendition of the MacDowell "Concerto" for two pianos, in three movements, by Miss Gertrude Chapman and Mrs. DeLoe. Both are accomplished pianists, and their audience last night praised them highly for their perfect work.

Mrs. Ruth Baird served as accompanist for the soloists.

Firemen Called to Rescue Steeplejack

SIOUX FALLS, Iowa, May 31.—For nearly four hours recently, Art Campbell, traveling steeplejack, clung to a small timber, eighty feet above ground, in the smokestack of a power plant, expecting almost momentarily to be dashed to death on the ground below, while firemen worked feverishly to rescue him.

TODAY—England and Prohibition.
TOMORROW—The Port Arthur-Dairen Row, by Edna Lee Becker. —Shanghai Correspondent.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, May 31.—The ghost of old John Barleycorn is hovering over the halls of diplomacy in England, and an active ghost it is.

The prohibition problem—a live problem in the United States—is giving the British government no little difficulty and the question of prohibition threatens to be a real factor in international relations.

The British government is anxious to play the friend to the United States and aid in enforcing prohibition, or at least to check British connivance in the evasion of the law. It is probably good business for Great Britain at this time to show a spirit of friendly co-operation in helping the United States over the prohibition turnstile. At any rate, whether it is just good business or sheer friendship, the British government does want to help. Right there is where its trouble begins.

Strong business pressure is being brought to bear to prevent the Government from taking any step that will be any check upon the export trade of the British Isles. British business men see no reason why their Government should aid in enforcing a domestic law of the United States. They are convinced that prohibition is wrong and they smile at it, but while they smile they are determined that none of their interests shall be involved in the experiment.

Sir Edward Mackay Edgar's weekly paper, the Saturday Review, may be counted upon to speak for at least one section of big interest. This paper comments on the prohibition situation in the following manner:

"America came into political existence by fighting Great Britain over tea, and now she appears to wish to fight the world over tea. But we British, at any rate, will not fight any more than we will agree to be bullied into prohibition. We shall merely smile and wait for the inevitable, though perhaps considerably delayed, collapse of the new system."

Other views are not quite so mild and even tempered. There are many Britishers who feel that the recent moves made by the United States for the enforcement of prohibition are outrages upon humanity.

Listen to the Sunday Times, which, by the way, is a highly respectable and conservative newspaper owned by Sir William Berry. It says:

"The intentions of America are good; those of Soviet Russia are not so good. But both have the crusading spirit in their blood and it is becoming a matter of uncertainty and debate as to which is giving the outer world more trouble. The principles of revolution and the principles of prohibition seem to be about equally a nuisance to the neighboring countries on whom it is attempted to foist them."

A "challenger to Milton" has appeared in Fleet street. An epic poem has been written by P. Irving Taylor, Fleet street newspaperman, which is said to rival the great poet's work at its best.

Entitled "Azal and Edras," it is a literary memorial to the sacrifices of the English-speaking peoples in the great war, the spiritual significance of which is treated allegorically. British critics say that it equals, if it doesn't excel, Milton's "Paradise Lost."

The author wrote the prize commemorative ode which was recited at the Poetry society's banquet to descendants of the great English poets.

Fighting in Ireland is described in a letter written by an Irish cook to her mistress in London and reproduced in the newspapers. It runs:

"My Lady:—We've had stirring times here. Since you left the National army came and took possession of the house. The irregular army attacked them. The battle lasted until 5 o'clock. The irregulars were defeated."

"Afterwards I showed the armies 'round the garden. They specially admired your ladyship's antirrhinums. I regret to say that they went down the village and got drunk, and two of the irregulars came back and got drowned in the lake."

"The funeral is on Tuesday and I am sure it would be your ladyship's wish for me to send them a wreath of antirrhinums."

Billy Whisker

By FRANCES TRIGO MONTGOMERY

"Take your coat off my porch this minute, and don't stand there repeating to me what your ma and pa say," cried Mrs. Ward as Bobby tried to talk her out of her rage. "I can't see where Teddy could have been to let this beast walk up there, even if you were leading him," and she began to call at the top of her voice, "Here, Teddy! Here, Teddy! Where in the world can that dog be? Have you seen him lately?"

"Why, yes," I put him in our barn, for I knew you would be glad to trade a worthless dog for a perfectly good goat. That is why I brought Billy over, so you could see what a good trade I am willing to make. It is because I am fond of Teddy that I want him for my very own, and not because he is a valuable dog."

"Really, this is too much!" and Mrs. Ward, who by this time had gotten over all the anger, held her sides with laughter, for she did love a joke, and the way Bobby had brought around his trade was too funny for anything.

"Bobbie, as I have told you fifty times before, I can't give you Teddy for your own, but you can play with him all you wish. And now if you will repeat my porch and let Teddy out of your barn, I won't tell your father this time."

And with a long disappointed face Bobby walked up the steps and untied Billy and led him home. That afternoon after school Bobby and Johnnie appeared at Mrs. Ward's back door and said they had come to paint the porch.

"I brought Johnnie with me to help me so we could get it done before dark, and then it will be dry enough to put on the second coat tomorrow."

"Very well. Come with me to the basement where the paints are."

Fresh Paint before they left, and Mrs. Ward was surprised to find what a good job they had made of it. And that evening when at dinner, she made a whole roomful laugh at her recital of the episode and how well it was patched up.

(But she laughed too soon as you will see tomorrow.)

SELLING EGGS IN N. Y.

An Eastern poultryman says the way western eggs sell in New York is enough to make a New Englander's head swim. Seeing 800 cases sell in fourteen minutes one day and 1200 cases disposed of in twenty minutes another day were sights which astonished the Easterner.

"FREEDOM OF TURKISH WOMEN INEVITABLE," SAYS KEMAL PASHA

"Europeans and Americans do not know real conditions in Turkey, which is not surprising as many Turkish readers are ignorant of them," says Mostapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish Nationalist chief.

"Eighty per cent of the Turkish women enjoy the same rights as men. For each Turkish man who is able to read and write there are two women. They actually know more, by sides being able to do men's work. They participate in the same social life as men when their work is done. And only part of the other twenty per cent in big cities, like Constantinople, are restricted. The freedom of Turkish women is inevitable. It is based not only on the will but on practice of the majority. This is not revolution, but evolution. My study and experiences with revolution have satisfied me that success comes only when the majority favor the ideal advanced."

"NEW SOURCES TO CREATE ENERGY, WORLD'S GREATEST NEED," SAYS ENGINEER

"The outstanding characteristic of the world's material progress in the last hundred years has been the tremendously increasing extent to which mechanical and electrical energy has come to be used," says Frank B. Jewett, president American Institute of Electrical Engineers. "Today, as a result of the fundamental research work of the last two or three decades, the bounds of human knowledge have been enormously extended in so far as physical and chemical relations are concerned. Industrial research has not been slow to adapt the result of fundamental research to the practical uses of mankind. As a consequence of the achievement in both pure and applied science there is in prospect almost most unlimited number of practical developments, each one of which would serve a useful or desirable purpose. In many directions there is hardly a goal which cannot be attained if there is a proven need for reaching it."

"In the last analysis each of these new developments requires somewhere in its course the utilization of energy other than human. If we continue along present lines our material progress will demand an ever-increasing amount of energy. At the moment all of this energy is derived from two main sources—fuels and water power. As is well known, the former (coal and petroleum), whatever their extent, at some time will be substantially depleted; the latter has a definite upper limit of availability. Therefore, unless through research and invention new sources of energy are made readily available in the near future, the world may be easily confronted with the necessity of foregoing some of the things it knows how to do and would like to do, merely because there is not at its disposal a sufficient amount of energy to perform the desirable services."

"In surveying the future along this line there are certain potential sources of energy which it may be found possible to develop by methods with which we are already more or less familiar. For example, some efficient and direct utilization of solar energy may be developed; or the energy of tidal motions may be made more largely available. Possibly a more promising lead is an indirect utilization of solar energy through the production of fuel from the luxuriant vegetable growths of the tropics. It is conceivable that research, invention and development along any or all of these lines might result in enormously increasing the amounts of energy available for human needs."

"More distant, more shadowy and perhaps not in the realm of the attainable is the possibility that some time in the future those same researches and inventions which are creating our growing need for energy may unlock another door and disclose a way to control the energy released by the spontaneous degradation of matter to lower forms."

Yes, Summer Has Come

Babe Ruth starts to clout again. Iron Steamboats start again. P. V. D.'s hauled out again. Chaplin's lost his heart again.

Willard in the ring again. Last year's flims are junk again. Overcoats are hocked again. Felt hats looking punk again.

Vacation Guides are read again. Commuters lugging plants again. Many a cold in the head again. Cleaning flannel pants again.

Tramps are stepping forth again. Spooners on the bus again. John D. coming north again. Summer's here with us again.

Confessions of a Cynic

I see they are trying to make the poppy the national flower, but will take a long time to displace the cauliflower, although I hope it does. I believe the cauliflower will always be the national flower of our neighborhood, if the old sense of smell doesn't deceive me.

I shall always believe that at least one person in every hundred is madly interested in baseball. The attendance at ball parks will hardly bear me out, but still I think I am right.

I notice one reformer has said in a speech: "Let us do what we can." Probably meaning, "Let us do what we can."

I would just as soon spend my life on a farm if I could take the city's conveniences and entertainments along with me.

I like to go to the movies because I can sit there in the dark and concentrate on my business problems.

I know it is not just the way for me to feel, but somehow I don't care a tinker's darn whom the Prince of Wales marries or whether he gets married at all.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PANCAKES

"Uncle Wiggily, do you think you could manage to get your own lunch if I were to go out this morning and not come back until afternoon?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy of the bunny rabbit gentleman one day.

"Why, yes, I think so," answered Mr. Longears, who was getting ready to go adventuring. "But where are you off to, Nurse Jane?"

"Mrs. Wibblewoogie, the lady duck, and I are going shopping," replied Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "and it will take most of the day."

"That will be all right," Uncle Wiggily said, good naturedly. "Stay as long as you like. I shall probably not come home to lunch, any how. But, if I do, I darsay I shall manage to find something in the pantry or the ice box."

"I can leave you some pancake batter, ready mixed, and you might make yourself some pancakes," suggested Nurse Jane.

"The very thing," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, with a jolly laugh. "I love pancakes with maple sugar sauce on them. That's what I'll do. I'll go adventuring. You leave the pancake batter where I can find it and when I come home I'll eat my own lunch."

So it was done and soon Uncle Wiggily found himself hopping over the fields and through the woods, looking for something to happen. But, though the sun shone and the wind rustled through the leaves of the trees there was no adventure in sight, and the bunny gentleman began to feel rather sad.

All of a sudden, however, he heard a noise in the bushes. The branches swayed up and down and Uncle Wiggily gave his pink nose a shivery twinkle or two as he whispered:

"Here comes the Fuzzy Fox or the Woosie Wolf. Or for all I know, it may be the Skillery Scallery Alligator, with the humps on his tail. Now for an adventure!"

But instead of the Woosie Wolf sneaking out of the bushes, or the Fuzzy Fox springing forth to nibble the bunny's ears, there waddled into view—Grandfather Goosey Gander!

"Oh, my dear Grandpa!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I thought you were the Fox."

"I'm glad I'm not," quacked the old goose gentleman.

"So am I!" chuckled Mr. Longears, "though it does spoil an adventure. However, it can't be helped. Where are you going, Grandpa Goosey?"

"I was looking for something to eat," was the answer.

"Then look no more!" cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly way. "At home, in my hollow stump bungalow, Nurse Jane has left some pancake batter ready to cook. We'll go back and have a lunch all by ourselves."

"It sounds jolly," quacked Grandpa Goosey.

"It will taste more jolly," said the rabbit uncle. Soon they reached the hollow stump bungalow. Uncle Wiggily looked in the pantry for the batter and saw, on a plate some round, brown things just the size and shape of pancakes.

"Oh, ho!" he cried. "Nurse Jane has baked them for us. The pancakes are all ready to eat, Grandpa Goosey."

"But they are cold," objected the goose gentleman.

"It is easy to warm them," spoke Uncle Wiggily, and he put some of the brown things on the stove, in a pan, while he got the can of maple syrup from the pantry.

"Those pancakes smell sort of funny," quacked Grandpa Goosey, sniffing and sniffing.

"It's easy to warm them," spoke Uncle Wiggily, and he put some of the brown things on the stove, in a pan, while he got the can of maple syrup from the pantry.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PANCAKES

"Uncle Wiggily, do you think you could manage to get your own lunch if I were to go out this morning and not come back until afternoon?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy of the bunny rabbit gentleman one day.

"Why, yes, I think so," answered Mr. Longears, who was getting ready to go adventuring. "But where are you off to, Nurse Jane?"

GOSSIP AROUSES FIGHT PROMOTER

Man Behind Dempsey-Gibbons Battle Raps Jealousy of Writers

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 31.—Promoters of the bout between Champion Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Montana, on July 4 here, refused to comment on reports from the East that the motion picture rights for the battle had been sold for more than $1,000,000. Whether silver screen rights for the bout had been sold at all was not disclosed, and the promoters ignored all questions regarding this end of the arrangements for the Independence Day event.

Loy J. Molumby, State Commander of the American Legion in Montana, was bitter in denouncing the Eastern and Pacific Coast newspapers, which, he said, had carried stories during the past few days to the effect that the bout would never be staged in Shelby and that the report of its signing in Chicago May 5 was merely a publicity stunt for oil fields adjoining Shelby. Molumby said that jealousy had prompted the statements of the Eastern sports writers.

Molumby announced in a statement to the press that the State organization of the American Legion did not now and never had had anything to do with the Shelby bout. He said it would be staged directly under the auspices of the Toole County Post of the Legion, with himself as promoter and Mike E. Collins, of Minneapolis, as promoter-aide.

SMALL CARS DO NOT 'GET OVER'

Automobile Engineers Not Satisfied With Showing At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—The little fellows couldn't do it. The waist high, midge motored speed creations with 122 inches piston displacement, were tried and found wanting in the judgment of automobile engineers today after considering the time and results of the annual 500 mile race here today.

The time for the distance, however, was the fastest in the history of the course with the exception of the record hung up in 1922 by Jimmy Murphy with a larger motor.

Milton of St. Paul, Minn., achieved the ambition of his brilliant racing career when, for the second time, he won the 500-mile automobile race over the Indianapolis motor speedway, repeating his victory of 1921 before a crowd of 150,000 spectators. It was the greatest triumph that ever witnessed a sporting event in America.

Milton's time for the 500 miles was 5:28:06.27, giving him an average speed of 91.4 miles per hour, as compared with the record-breaking speed of 94.48 made a year ago. Harry Hartz of Los Angeles, who finished second in the 1922 race, thundered across the finishing line five miles behind Milton, while Jimmy Murphy, winner of the 1922 race, was third, about 13 miles behind Hartz. Hartz' time was 5:33:05.90 for an average speed of 88.08 miles an hour.

Fourth place honors went to the veteran Earl Cooper, while L. L. Corum of Indianapolis provided one of the mechanical surprises of the race by piloting a specially built Blower into fifth place. Frank Elliott, a California driver, finished sixth and Ed. Hines seventh. Max Sailer, one of the three German entries, was eighth; Prince de Cystria, a French entry, ninth, and Phil Shafer, driving an Indianapolis machine, tenth. Christian Werner, another of the German entries, finished eleventh, just outside the prize money.

Eight of the eleven survivors were American creations, two were German and one was French. Four of the French machines were eliminated because of motor trouble and the third German entry was wrecked in a smashup.

Wonderful Exhibition
Milton, who collected about $35,000 as his reward for victory, gave a wonderful exhibition of gameness, skill and daring, as he was pushed every mile of the race by the thundering speed marvels attempting to defeat him. Howard Wilcox, an Indianapolis driver, shared in Milton's triumph, for after his own car was eliminated, he relieved Milton, whose hands were painfully blistered as a result of gripping the wheel.

Wilcox drove 115 miles of the race, taking the wheel at the 260-mile mark to enable Milton to have his hands treated and bandaged. Milton went back into the race at the 375-mile mark, two laps in the lead.

People reputed to be the strongest and healthiest of any European nation are the Bulgarians.

Cripui, the French boxer who holds the featherweight title of Europe, has fought almost as many battles as Kilbane, although that veteran is usually spoken of as "Old Man" Kilbane. It was not until a year or so ago, however, that Cripui began to figure as a successor to the present champion. Before the war the Frenchman had appeared in many fights in Europe, but never showed much at that time.

His one weakness was his chin. Cripui served in the French army during the war and has a fine record. A part of his jaw was torn away by a machine gun bullet, but fists aimed at the artificial section have never succeeded in putting the Frenchman down. This has led to many fantastic rumors that said bullet proved to be a blessing in disguise, for in blowing his way through Cripui's anatomy it severed a certain nerve the absence of which makes him immune from a knock-out blow.

That's a laugh! Anyway, whether this is true or whether the feather crop in Europe has deteriorated to a bunch of third-raters, Cripui waded through the whole bunch. Joe Fox was beaten in twelve rounds, and Billy Matthews, featherweight champion of England, in seven-round rounds. While Matthews was in this country last year, Billy Deane out-pointed him. Matthews made no impression here, yet it took the so-called hard-hitting Frenchman seventeen rounds to O. K. him.

Cripui is twenty-seven years old, while Kilbane is near thirty-five. But let it be known that old man Kilbane is a real fox. He always knows what he is doing and has shown in exhibitions that he has taken good care of himself. Johnny packs a punch like a lightweight, and is one of the fastest and cleverest footwork and boxing combinations that ever danced inside the ropes.

But there is a law which must apply to Kilbane, and that is, that a man too long away from his trade lacks finish and, at Johnny's age, deteriorates fast. Maybe he has gone back too far to beat as good a man as Cripui. What do you think?

SLIM CROWD FOR BOUT PREDICTED

Cripui-Kilbane Fight Fails to Stir Enthusiasm of Gotham Fans

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 31.—According to Broadway sharpshooters, the Kilbane-Cripui bout at the Polo grounds Saturday afternoon will be attended by gentlemen of the press and the ushers.

That opinion, of course, is a trifle extravagant. The hour is young and many of the innocents can still advance upon the box office, cash in hand. However, there is no doubt that tickets are not selling with the rapidity Tom O'Rourke might desire.

The field, O'Rourke declares, will have accommodations for sixty thousand but at prices ranging from $10 to $25, the attraction will hardly call out a capacity crowd.

Publicity Lacking
The fact that the bout follows so closely on the spendthrift heels of a holiday is one thing that argues against a sell-out. Another is that Kilbane and Cripui have been in such wonderful condition for two weeks that little activity, and consequently little news, has developed at the two camps. Lack of adequate publicity undoubtedly has hurt the early sale of tickets.

Their price is another item. Perhaps in addition to the other liabilities mentioned, the fans are just a bit suspicious of Cripui's ability. Carpenter's misfit showing against Dempsey has reflected to some extent on all foreign boxers and we presume that Cripui is no exception.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Nowadays when a United States senator or congressman goes to a professional for instruction in golf, it is immediately assumed that he has, presidential aspirations.

There have been a number of prominent pugilists of the championship caliber received at the White House in the past. Wonder what the American Legion would have to say if Mr. Jack Dempsey were to be honored in that way by the occupant of the executive mansion?

We have now resigned ourselves to the ordeal of seeing a lot of piffle emanating from Dempsey's training camp being printed on the sports pages. It was a real fight with the issue in doubt it would not be so bad, but Gibbons—oh gosh.

The Pacific Coast league squabble has gotten into the federal courts. That's better than the police or criminal courts, but there is no reason why men who pretend to have the best interests of any sport at heart should bring it into any kind of a court.

Another 1000 per cent pitcher has fallen by the wayside. After winning seven straight, Bob Geary of the Seals took a flop. There are still several left and it's about time they were all wiped out. It is seldom a season goes into its eighth week with any unbeaten moundmen.

Ty Cobb does not yet appear in the list of leading batters in the American league. Ty always has been a more or less late starter, but it is dollars to doughnuts that when the season closes his name will be found at or near the top. They have been calling the veteran a hasbeen for many seasons only to have him upset all calculations, and he's likely to do it again this season. It is a safer bet that Tyrus will be one, two, or three, in the batting order than Babe Ruth breaks or even ties his home run record.

Williams of the Philadelphia Americans is still slamming them out for the full circuit. When Ruth made his record in 1921 he had only twelve home clouts to his credit.

There is a lot of interest being taken in the Cripui-Kilbane contest to be held in New York June 1 for the featherweight championship of the world. Kilbane has come in for no end of criticism in the past for his alleged desire to retain the championship without giving anybody a chance to get a crack at it. The coming fight will go a long way toward demonstrating whether or not Kilbane is in line to hold the title for another decade.

Ty Cobb has scored another baseball record, that of having scored more runs than any other man ever in the game. Ty has been in the game for over eighteen years and if he remains in another eighteen years it is quite possible that he will wreck some more records. After all, it is a good deal like a man getting the record for longevity. It's just a question of how long you live.

The press agents for the Dempsey-Kilbane fight are being pretty hard pressed for news to send out judging from the waste paper stuff that is emanating from there at the present time, and there does not seem to be any prospect of its being any better for the one and simple reason that you can't make

SPORTS CHATTER

Louis Angel Firpo, the big American boxer, comes of a good and well-to-do family, and really is not urged to the need of keeping the wolf from the door. Some of Firpo's connections already are arranging for a motor trip through foreign lands, which indicates that the family is well fixed in the matter of worldly goods.

The impression has been given that Firpo is a giant of the same whopping stripe as Willard, all of which is quite erroneous. Firpo weighs from 30 to 35 pounds less than the former champion and, in the ring, would look considerably smaller than tamed in his financial ideas. Tex Rickard is likely to discipline the youngster, and when he is more amenable in his monetary ideas, proceed to be consummated.

And, speaking of money matters, that, at the bottom, is what is prompting Willie Ritchie to get back in the ring again to try his fortune. Even as recently as Willie's Day, $20,000 purses were considered big enough for

EAGLE IS ADDED TO DEMPSEY ZOO

Champion Gets Decision in Battle With Big Bird on Mountain Trip

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 31.—There will be an addition to the already large collection of pets at the Dempsey zoo, when the champion returns from his successful fishing outing tomorrow. The world's heavyweight champion yesterday climbed into the cliffs of the Rocky mountains near Charles Powers' Rock Creek camp, and, after a fierce battle, conquered and captured a live and enormous eagle.

Thirty-five per cent of the work on the construction of the huge arena, where Dempsey and Gibbons will battle for supremacy July 4, is already accomplished. Tickets for the bout are due to arrive in Shelby today, from which point they will be mailed to advance customers.

To Advertise Bout
SHELBY, Mont., May 31.—E. H. Willis, general manager of the Great Northern railroad, will arrive here from St. Paul within the next few days, where he will go into conference with other officials of that road to conclude plans now under way for a complete advertising campaign of Shelby and the championship fight, which will be broadcasted throughout the country.

Rapid progress is being made in preparation for the thousands who will visit Shelby to witness the Gibbons-Dempsey bout, on July 4. Permanent trackage is being laid to accommodate two hundred Pullmans.

PROFITEERING IN SHRINERS' MECCA

Greedy Washington Merchants Accused of Boosting Prices on Nobles

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Greedy local merchants are causing trouble for the committee in charge of arrangements for the Shrine convention meeting here June 4. The Shriners' committee have set out to prevent profiteering at the expense of the visitors, who will number close to a half million.

Dealers who have announced price boosts on meat and ice cream have been censured by the Shrine committee, composed largely of local business men. The committee hopes to discourage any general wave of profiteering.

Local merchants also upset the police arrangements, claiming they interfered with business. Automobiles had been forbidden to park in the downtown section of the capital beginning last Friday. But when the regular shopping trade fell off as a result of patrons being unable to drive to the stores the merchants protested to the police department, and the no-parking rule was lifted for another week.

The "Garden of Allah," which has made the White House district resemble a holiday resort, and on a King Tut motif, is nearing completion. Mammoth towers built of bent laths are being covered with burlap and painted with Egyptian designs. Lithographs of the president wearing a red fez and labeled "Noble Warren G. Harding" are appearing in store windows. Stickers reading "Hop in, Noble," are being placed on automobile windshields by residents who desire to carry the visitors around the city.

Psychic Lecture at C. C. Building Tonight

Glendians who are interested in psychic matters are invited to attend the meeting of the health and success club tonight, in the Chamber of Commerce hall at 150 South Brand boulevard.

Rev. Jennie McHenry will give a lecture and, with other speakers from Los Angeles, messages.

Woman's Page

A Triumph in Realism

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"Some of the fortunes in the motion picture business aren't made."

Slim Flitwell, Minden's man of many business ventures and more stories, stretched his legs with the content that was his in the presence of a willing listener.

"I had a million in my hands once, was just closing my fingers on it, and had my career of spending all mapped out. I was in a way of being a big figure in the film world. But I made a mistake—I got too close to human nature."

"Remember the sudden interest the country took a few years ago in the old days of California? Some town out there—Sacramento, I think—gave a '49 show and the papers all over the country took it up. Folks remembered their Bret Harte and the old tales of Hangtown and Poker Flat. Well, I was too good a business man to let the chance go by. Being engaged in the motion pictures on a small scale and having a little money, I borrowed more and took to the Calaveras country, where the Forty-Niners used to hunt the gold and where the old timers of the Roaring Fifties still sit around and talk of the good old days."

"Way off the railroad and high in the hills I found the place I wanted. It was a mining town of the fifties true to life—one of a number in that country that are standing today, with their stone buildings and iron doors, just as they did, when Calamity Jane, Harpoony Hal and the others were supposed to have been making merry."

"We climbed the hill for miles, then dipped down a grade and around a turn and there we were at Coulter, for all the world like a page out of an old school book. There were not many people there, but enough. You see, I had the camera and a half-dozen actors. What I was after was to get the townspeople to act, a scheme which meant a saving in money and a gain in realism."

"It wasn't any trick at all when I explained. They had heard of the Sacramento dolings and were interested in attracting attention to their part of the country which, you might say, was no more than scratched by the early miners. In no time I had them hunting through the garrets and the trunks. We fixed up enough costumes to people the old place with men and women of the days of its glories."

"To make it more realistic we rigged out the Chinese in the old style and fixed it up to have a crowd of them work as a clean-up crew by the creek. The old men did not have to grow whiskers to look the part, and they didn't need instructions as to how to handle a pan or a pick. I could see right away this was going to be a picture in a million and that I was headed for a life of ready-made ease."

"We got them all out every day, let them wear the old clothes about the streets so we could shoot them natural like, and arranged for the scenes. Coulter became a Forty-Nine city, the old boys took on a swagger as they walked, remembered old songs and old jokes and yelled at each other like a lot of kids. The women wore their hoopskirts, took to standing in the street chinning and holding dinky parasols. It was a huge success."

"I don't know where they got it, but it is just possible that in going through the attics and cellars someone found some old liquor that had been forgotten in the days of plenty. Anyhow, the old boys took on Forty-Nine spirit in more ways than one, and the town which had been dead for a half century became the liveliest in the dry United States. I discovered what was wrong when an eighty-year-old kid with long whiskers took a shot at an orange globe in a drug store window and reduced it to a wet heap of glass. The town roared approval when he did the same to a green globe, and then the shots were general. "Iron doors which had stood open for years squeaked on rusty hinges, while the few sober storekeepers slammed them shut and shot the bolts. Every time a pistol barked a window popped. Women scurried up the slope to their homes, dogs barked, and the dozen old men in the town held fast to the center of the street. Somehow, I did not feel equal to the task of reasoning with them."

"At that I might have made something of it, but what should come scotching down the hill and around the curve but an automobile full of tourists. Before the driver had time to realize he was in a town the reception started. You couldn't tell that man nor any of his passengers this was a joke, a sort of playful reminder of old times. He stuck up his hands and yelled, two women fainting, and the whole bunch knew they were being held up by bandits."

"I heard later the driver took a chance, stepped on the gas and left town making the curves on two wheels, but I can't say for sure. You see about that time I was making good time in the other direction."

Tomorrow—A Good Town.

To Knit a Jacquette Sweater, Size 36 to 38—Buy five balls of silk island yarn (or the two-ply fingering yarn may be used instead) and one ball of one contrasting color. Also buy one pair of number ten and one pair of number four white or amber knitting needles. To make the body of the sweater, cast on 90 sts., k even in garter stitch (arter stitch means to knit every row for ten inches with every row). (Measure: four stitches to an inch, on body.) Increase one stitch at both ends in each of the next five ridges. Cast on 50 sts. at each side for sleeves (more if for a very long arm) and k even for 20 ridges.

Next row k 91 sts. and slip

DAILY FASHION HINT

ORATORIAL REVIEW

THE SEASON'S TAILORED MODES

Fashions of the day are placing great emphasis on tailored modes, and the coat pictured at the left is carried out in heavy cloth-back crepe, so that it may be used for late Spring and Summer wear. The fronts are rolled back to form revers and there is a large collar of self-material. There is a seam at the center of the back, which accommodates the model to materials of less than 40 inches in width. The skirt is attached to the waist under a straight belt. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 44-inch or 3 3/4 yards 54-inch material.

The suit with the side-closing box jacket says the last word from Paris. It is carried out in sand-color Poiréte. If preferred the revers and cuffs may be interfaced with satin crepe. It is also quite the fashion this season to bind tailored garments with heavy moire ribbon of darker shade than the material when light tones are employed. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

First Model—Coat No. 1559. Sizes, 16 to 20 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Jacket No. 1576. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents. Skirt No. 9905. Sizes, 24 to 36 inches waist. Price, 30 cents.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

GETTING IN YOUR OWN WAY

Do you get in your own way? Some people do just that. They are so eager to get something they want that they get in their own way and stumble over themselves and then fall to get it.

Take sleep, for instance. There is nothing more fatal to getting sleep than wanting it too much and trying too hard to get it. Nothing will keep anyone awake more unfaithfully than saying to oneself: "I must get to sleep. If I don't I never shall be able to do my work tomorrow. I wonder when it is now." (Business of consulting radium wrist watch, or worse still, snapping on a light and looking at clock.) "Oh, dear, here it is almost half-past twelve!"

Turn it back over the edges of the sweater.

Band at Bottom—(This fits tight around the hips—like one of the double blouses). Knit it with double yarn. With the contrasting color and amber four needles cast on 180 sts. and k in garter st. for eight ridges. Change to main color and k 12 ridges, binding off loosely in last row on wrong side. Now gather the lower edge of the sweater-body, leaving nine inches of left front free. Baste band to gathered edge and what to your figure. Gather the free edge of left front, fitting it to go under the right front. The band fastens on the left hip with snap fasteners.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

THE DISFIGURING COLD

There is nothing so annoying to the pretty girl, and nothing so abominably heart-breaking to the homely one, as a cold in the head. Now, as everyone knows, the colds never happen in the winter but in the deceptive days when summer is supposed to be here and isn't. One woman I know remarked: "Nothing spoils one's looks like a cold. It leaves its mark for a long time after it is passed on to the face."

The first thing to do, of course, is to attack the cold to get rid of it by every remedy you ever heard of. The only consoling thing I know about a cold is that you can't cry one, but a dozen different methods of curing it are at once, gargles, hot baths and hot drinks in bed and your doctor's favorite prescription. Meantime there is your spoiled beauty.

Often the lips become rough and swollen, some say this is over-heated blood. Bathe the lips now and then with warm, boracic solution. If they are quite swollen, rinse out the mouth as well. If the lips are cracked and dry use white lipstick or heavy cold cream, or any thick grease both on the lips and around them.

Then there are the eyes. If the lids are puffy try the hot tea compress I spoke of yesterday, or try bathing the eye in an eyecup with lukewarm, very weak tea. This is made by pouring off the water as soon as it has been poured over the tea leaves, at least it should not stand more than two minutes. Steaming the face is another extraordinarily good remedy, which also reduces the redness of the nose. The steaming should be from five to eight minutes, after that the entire face should be rubbed with a little good cold cream, and wiped off with a soft cloth. A cold always dries the skin so a great deal of cream will be necessary.

Mrs. T. J. W.—Any oil will do to feed the nails. A cream, in which there is some wax is best, however, as it adds the polish when you come to the buffing. Old kid gloves, loose enough not to prevent circulation, were the kind alluded to in the article. Pumice stone is sold at any drug store or at the toilet goods counters of large department stores.

M. L. D.—To cure the habit of biting the nails, paint a little bitter aloes under the tips. This is harmless and will remind you each time you forget.

Miss Reader—It would be unlawful for a rouge to contain anything that would either poison the system or the skin, but there is nothing in it of benefit and it does clog the pores, drying out the secretions. In a stage "make-up" the skin is always protected first by a liberal amount of cold cream so that none of the artificial coloring has any chance to get into the pores.

Mrs. L. G.—Deep breathing will help restore the contour of your bust. Add to this a tonic treatment each day by dashing very cold water over the chest followed by light friction over a coarse towel.

Tomorrow—The Useful Egg

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their time. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me, and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to enclose the s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

Mrs. F.—Diet in underweight cases is not different from diet for normal healthy persons, except that you have to have more calories of energy food than you would have if you were normal weight. A nervous case needs no more protein or vitamins or mineral elements than normal cases.

Your excess gas may come from not eating enough. Gradually, begin to add more calories, especially in the form of whole milk, and I think you will be improved. The exclusive milk diet might be good for you for a while if you can take it.

capable of accomplishing the next thing you have to do. Take a familiar example, the mother with a sick child. She wants to do just the right thing for it, and she wakes up every few minutes all night and looks to see if it is properly covered, and opens the window and closes it, and hovers over the child and wears herself out fearing she has not done the right thing. Consequently, next night she is less able than she was the night before to make wise decisions and give the child the best possible care.

Do the best you can at anything. Don't overdo it. And don't worry about the result. That's the way to keep out of your own way.

Tomorrow—How to Keep One's Friends.

(Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

Mrs. R.—There are many factors in the under-nutrition of children besides not getting the proper diet. If there are enlarged adenoids and tonsils, they are a big factor. Lack of sufficient sleep and rest is another. Lack of play, out-of-doors, fresh air in sleeping rooms and unhappy environment, etc., all contribute.

Children should have a pint, at least, of milk a day, and more if they are under-nourished. Whole-wheat bread, whole grains, cereals, eggs, milk and its products, lean tender meats, fish, peas and beans are the chief protein foods. One of these high protein foods should be given every day.

Cold water baths are not beneficial unless there is a good reaction, and usually in under-nourished children and adults there isn't a good reaction. Dashing a little cold water on the chest and back after the baths can be done. Does your little girl get a lot of candy and fried and greasy foods and pastries? They should certainly be omitted.

Mrs. R.—Your baby of three and one-half months, will always be constipated so long as you continue giving him physics. He can have orange juice as early as two months if you begin with one teaspoonful of water (one ounce) and increase it three or four drops a day until he gets two tablespoonsful, or even more. You can begin pure cod liver oil also, especially during the winter. Begin with about five drops and increase it one drop a day until he gets one or two spoonfuls every day.

Mrs. Y.—You should have an examination to see what the offensive discharge is. Meanwhile you can take very hot douches of two to four quarts of water as hot as you can stand it. Take them lying in the bathtub or on a bed pan. A teaspoonful of salt to the quart of water or a teaspoonful of baking soda or boracic acid may help some, but it is really the heat that is most helpful. Have you sent a self-addressed, stamped envelope and four cents in stamps for the article on reducing? If you did, the instructions have been sent.

Here are a few of the new mayor's ideas on what is needed in Haskell:

"I am going to see that our ordinance which prohibits boys under the age of twenty-one years from attending pool halls is strictly enforced. I am going to abolish the 'hip pocket' element from the dance halls and I am going to do it if I have to detail a policeman to every dance in the city. I am going to insist upon mothers chaperoning their daughters to dances."

"Petting parties are going to be taboo. I do not want it understood that I am going to be hard on young folks. I understand them and am tolerant of the modern generation and know that today's girls and boys cannot be driven to do things. They must be guided by taking an interest in their affairs."

Mrs. Way has four children of her own, with whom she is the best of friends. Although she believes that it is every parent's duty to watch over their own children, she says that when the parents fail in shouldering their responsibility the state must step in to produce its own good citizens.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is a woman thirty-three years old too old to bob her hair? Is there any danger that it might not grow long again? My hair is terribly thin.

Can you tell me how I can find a party that I worked with about six years ago. He goes to work in one state in the winter and in the spring he goes to another. I know both states he works in and where he used to go, but I don't know how to get at it to find out if he is in the same town.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING.

Many women of thirty-three have bobbed hair. Unless you have a youthful face and figure I would not advise you to do so, however. Bobbed hair is rarely becoming to a mature-looking woman. If you do bob your hair and apply mange cure as a hair tonic, I believe your hair will grow more rapidly than before and will come in faster. Very often the hair does not grow to its former length after bobbing, but it grows sufficiently to enable doing it up.

Write to the place where the man was formerly employed and ask for information. Enclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope so that your answer will not cause any more trouble than necessary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for a year and he has always seemed to love me and proved true in every way. We were to be married in a few months, but one month after we became engaged I had my hair bobbed without mentioning it to him, knowing he didn't want me to bob my hair. He told me that we would never marry. Did he have a right to break our engagement for that? Do you think he really loved me?

When the young man decided you were not the girl he wanted to marry, he had a right to say so.

BOBBED HAIR.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been engaged to a certain young man since Christmas. He lives out of town. While he was away I went with another fellow just for company. He found it out and broke the engagement. Please advise me what to do as I still love him dearly.

FRECHNY.

You took your chance and were caught. Now you have no one to blame but yourself for the thing that has happened. My advice is to profit by this lesson and never try to deceive a man you love.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

BY EDITH MORIARTY

Mrs. Susie L. Way, the first and only woman mayor in Oklahoma, says she considers her greatest responsibility that of "making Haskell safe for its boys and girls."

Mrs. Way rules in the same congressional district which produced Alice Robertson.

Mrs. Way was recently elected mayor of Haskell by the city council, and to further increase the measure of success of her administration she was made chairman of the police committee. The latter office gives her direct charge of the law enforcement agency of the municipal government.

Here are a few of the new mayor's ideas on what is needed in Haskell:

"I am going to see that our ordinance which prohibits boys under the age of twenty-one years
